

Your Right. You have the right to not have your personal information shared, rented or sold to third parties by the businesses you trust. Intelliprotech strongly respects and enforces this right.

What we collect. We only collect the information that you submit willingly to us and what is necessary to process your order or service request. This could include your name, address, email address, credit card and/or other billing information.

When we collect information. We collect your information when you schedule a service on our website or over the phone and at the checkout when you purchase products from our online store.

What the information used for. The personal information you provide will only be used by Intelliprotech to process your order, bill you for any services rendered, and for future information from Intelliprotech such as our company newsletter or special mail-outs with discounts and coupons.

Links on our site. While we do offer links to other valuable websites, these sites may be governed by separate privacy policies than the ones Intelliprotech ascribes to and should be read and reviewed before submitting any personal information to these sites.
